PEYRASSOL

Commanderie de Peyrassol is located in the foothills of the Massif des Maures mountain range, 10 miles from the Mediterranean Sea, between Cannes and Marseille. Existing as a winery for almost 800 years, Commanderie de Peyrassol today consists of 1,000 hectares with 95 hectares planted to vineyards cultivated on dry, rocky clay and limestone soils. At the core of the brand remains the Commanderie and all that it stands for: in addition to excellent wine, the estate is a historic sanctuary for gathering travelers and an enduring pillar of hospitality and conviviality.

MAS LA CHEVALIÈRE

Mas la Chevalière is considered a reference point in the Languedoc region for both its selection of cool climate terroirs and the quality of its winery equipment, which allows for the precise expression of each grape variety and vineyard parcel.

CHÊNE BLEU

Located 2,000 feet high in altitude, where the boundaries of Gigondas, Ségurets and the Ventoux come together, these 50-year-old vineyards benefit from the warmth of the southern Rhône and the cool climate of the high elevation. Planted on complex mineral and limestone soil, the vines — in conjunction with the historical techniques and modern technology — offer balanced grapes, delicately vinified.

DOMAINE DE BEAURENARD

Representing the 8th generation and based in the heart of Châteauneuf-du-Pape, Victor and his brother, Antonin Coulon, are following their family's philosophy with a certified biodynamic rosé coming from the southern Rhône valley area.

FEUDO MONTONI

Located in the heart of Sicily, Feudo Montoni has been producing top-quality wines on its historic grounds since 1469. The vines have always been cultivated using the Sireci family's traditional organic methods and the winery produces many of Italy's most celebrated 100% indigenous varietals.

BENANTI

Winemaking in the Benanti family can be traced back to the late 1800s in Viagrande. This deep-rooted passion for wine is what led Giuseppe Benanti to establish the namesake winery in 1988. Located on Mount Etna, "an island within the island" of Sicily, the Benanti family produces wines using 100% native grapes – Carricante, Nerello Mascalese and Nerello Cappuccio. With vineyards positioned on four different slopes of the Etna volcano: North, East, South-East and South-West, the climatic influence and volcanic soils from each slope combine to create territorial wines with a "sense of place."
